The War Today..

By DeWitt MacKenzie

A LOT OF FOLK on the Allied home-fronts will breathe easier the result of Gen. Eisenhower's announcement that he regrets instances in which senior officers treated captured Nazi and German officials on the "friendly enemy" basis in direct violation of his orders, and that he has taken drastic measures to "assure termination of these errors forthwith."

The Allied press is making it clear we want no coddling of the enemy. We tried it with the Kaiser's gang a generation ago and have paid the awful price. Now we want the scalps not only of Nazi officials but of the German military command, all guilty of war crimes.

The Supreme commander's two-fold move followed British and American newspaper criticism of Reichsmarshal Goering's treatment by the United States Seventh army. A news dispatch said the deputy Nazi Fuehrer was given lunch in a hotel parlor after "brief greetings and a handshake" and posed for pictures with Maj. Gen. John Dahlquist, commander of the 36th division, and with Brig. Gen. Robert Stack, assistant division commander.

Goering is one of the most dangerous men in Germany.

Possibly Goering never slit a throat with his own hands, but that doesn't relieve him of responsibility for the crimes of Nazism. He personally gave orders for the slaughter of innocent civilians with bombs, and he was one of the chief parts of the Nazi war machine. Every Nazi official is in the same boat. And a lot of people go further and demand punishment of all persons belonging to the Nazi party.

There's no such thing as a "friendly enemy" in the Allied lexicon of this war. One of the main Allied objectives has been the extermination of Nazism. But the thing doesn't stop there. We also have had as a prime aim the destruction of Prussian militarism, which has been the mainspring of aggression in Europe for generations. It always is on the lookout for fresh opportunities, and it got behind Adolf Hitler when it recognized in him a powerful leader who would be able to take the German nation into war.

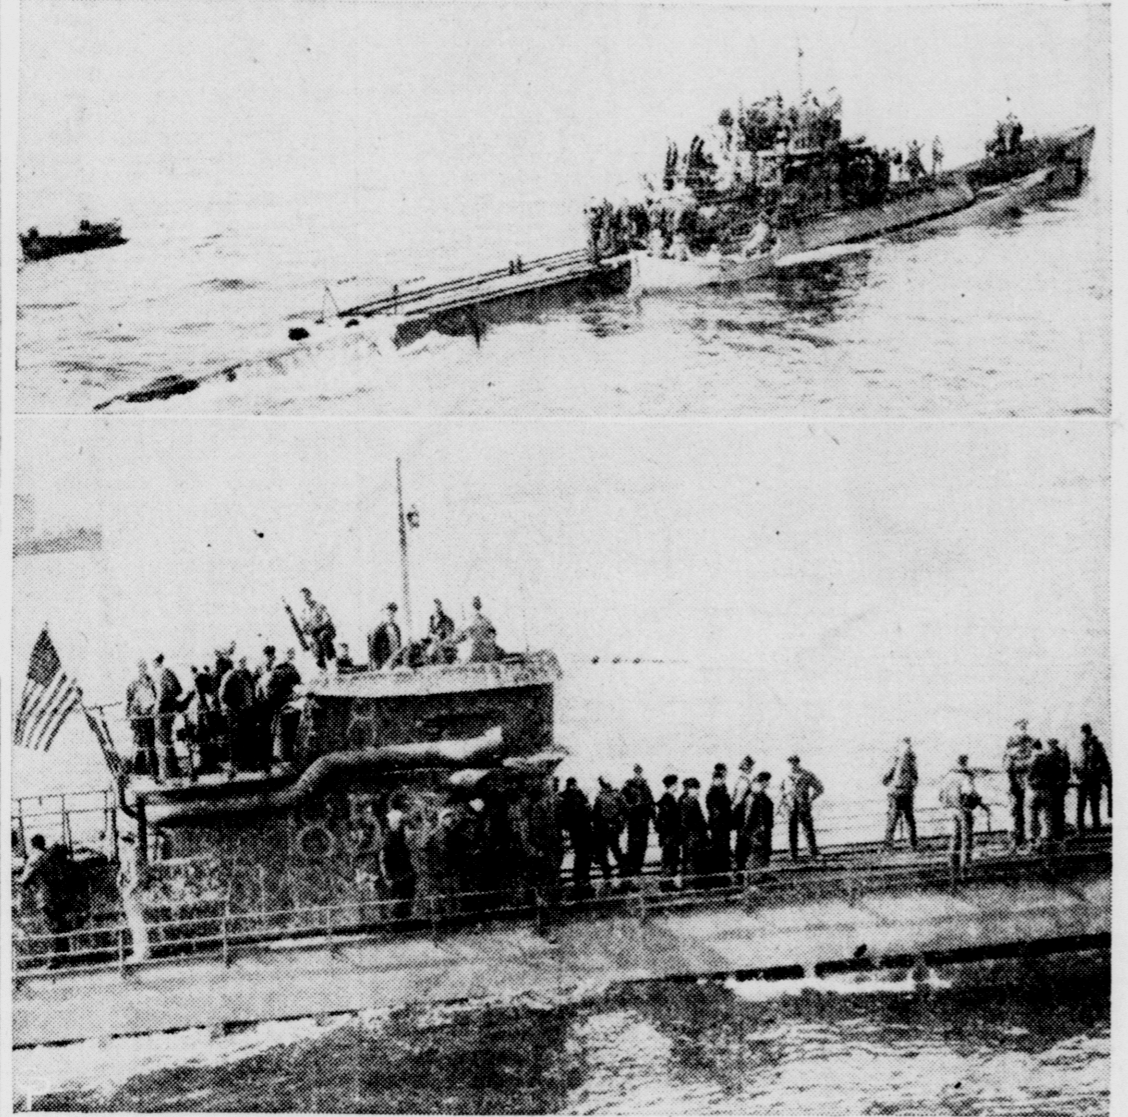

Every one of the German high command is part of this Prussian machine, and it's no use for the generals to try to hide behind the excuse that they are merely soldiers and they're playing the "friendly enemy" part for all it's worth as they surrender, but that doesn't fit in with the statement by Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin after the Yalta conference earlier this year:

"It is our inflexible purpose to destroy German militarism and Nazism... and to break up for all time the German general staff that has repeatedly contrived the resurgence of German militarism."

That's what we have been fighting for. And that's why sections of the British press are demanding that Grand Admiral Doenitz, and German generals claiming authority in parts of the Reich, be thrown into concentration camps. It isn't safe to leave these professional war-mongers free—now or after the return to normal times. They must be in some way be "liquidated" from the life of Germany, or they will start their devilry again.

It is clear that the German peoples themselves aren't repentant. They are sullen and bitter in their defeat and would provide fertile soil for another crop of Prussianism.

German Sub Surrenders In American Waters

German submarine U-858, which had sunk 16 Allied ships during two and one-half years of preying on Allied vessels in the Atlantic, is pictured as it surrendered in American waters, 42 miles off Cape May, N. At top is a view of the sub and below, armed Marines marching crew members to the forward deck and searching them. The sub was captured by Lt. Chilo Bode, 27, of Bavaria.

LAUSCHE HITS SCHOOL BILL

Says Measure Would Produce Funds Beyond Reasonable Needs

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, May 15.—Gov. Frank J. Lausche, battling to keep state expenditures within revenues, asserted in a special message to the legislature that passage of the Daniels-Cramer bill would provide schools with $17,243,266 more than they received in 1943-44 and termed the increase "more than reason justifies."

Standing pat on his earlier recommendation, the governor told the house and senate last night that "the $108,259,208 advocated by me is a reasonable and just amount" and estimated it would increase by $10,499,266 in the current biennium, the $97,759,942 received by local districts in 1943-44 for operating purposes.

He said the bill sponsored by Sens. Albert L. Daniels (R-Highland) and Virgil E. Cramer (R-Lucas) contemplated $115,039,208 for the biennium and that a house education committee amendment extending its effective operation into the 1947-48 biennium would boost the state's contribution to at least $117,156,666.

Threatens Veto
Another bill by Rep. Walter L. Tarr (R-Hamilton) calling for only $101,439,208 in the biennium was described by Lausche as inadequate.

The governor has indicated he would veto the Daniels bill if it was passed by the house when it comes up for consideration, possibly this week. It already bears senate approval. A two-thirds vote in both houses would be required to override a veto.

Lausche's message also urged passage of legislation to regulate strip coal mining "to curb the butchering upon nature that is being perpetuated" by such operations, and to tax domestic insurance companies the same as out-of-state firms to avoid possible loss of revenues termed discriminatory.

Strip mining measures now are pending in both senate and house conservation committees. The house insurance committee has recommended for passage a bill to tax both domestic and foreign insurance concerns two per cent of their gross premiums in Ohio annually.

The state now levies a 2½ per cent tax on foreign firms.

Senators' Report Says Nazi Prison Torture All Planned

WASHINGTON, May 15.—A congressional mission reported today its inspection of German concentration camps forced the conclusion the Nazis carried out a "calculated and diabolical program of planned torture and extermination."

The mission, composed of six senators and six members of the house of representatives, flew to Europe April 22 and spent most of a fortnight looking over the notorious camps at Dachau, Buchenwald and Nordhausen, Germany.

In their report, the group termed the Nazi program of starvation, torture and unhonored death for slave laborers and political prisoners "no less than organized crime against civilization and humanity."

"Those who were responsible should have meted out to them swift, certain and adequate punishment," the report advised.

In view, however, of the existence of the Allied War Crimes commission, the committee said it did not believe any additional agency need be created.

"The agencies now dealing with the problem are responsible and competent and will approach the subject from the standpoint of practical justice in every area and in all categories of crimes that may be involved," the report said.

Ayres Says Nation In Critical Period Of War Transition

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, May 15.—The United States has entered the period of transition from an expanding war economy to a shrinking one with a second major war still to win, says Brig. Gen. Leonard P. Ayres.

"Nearly half the current goods and services of this nation," wrote the economist in the Cleveland Post Co.'s monthly business bulletin yesterday, "are being spent for war, but the processes of contraction have begun."

This shrinkage phase, the company vice president added, will continue perhaps for another five years. Reconversion, already getting underway, "will be an important factor in business activity for at least two years, and a dominant one during much of the time."

The German surrender, Ayres declared, brought the United States new problems in Europe of the "most serious sort; our share of responsibility for the peacetime economy of Europe is gravely heavy."

"In much of Europe food shortages are rapidly becoming critical," he said. "The part of Germany that our armies are to occupy is in normal peace times a food deficit area so far as local production goes. Presumably we shall have to make good the shortages."

The retired army officer said Germany, in normal times her neighbors' largest customer with a foreign trade nearly as great as the United States, was prostrate. Her coal production, he declared, has been reduced to nearly nothing.

MONDAY RALLY OPENS CITY'S BOND DRIVE

Workers Receive Supplies, Begin Task of Raising $1,184,800

Salem's Seventh War Loan drive got off to a good start at a meeting of 100 workers in the Memorial building last night, presided over by City Chairman R. S. McCulloch.

With the biggest task confronting them since the bond drives were inaugurated, these workers, led by their team captains and division chairmen, received their supplies and mapped out a campaign to contact every household in the city within the next three days.

With a quota of $1,184,800 to reach by the end of June, the group faces the task of selling nearly twice as many E bonds as in the last drive. The goal for these popular bonds is $723,400, less than half of which have been sold in the preliminary campaign through the factories.

Breakfast Awaits Workers
Those workers who complete the house-to-house campaign by Thursday night will be guests of Chairman McCulloch at a breakfast at 8 a. m. Friday in the Memorial building. And the city chairman is expecting to feed some 150.

Last night's meeting was highlighted by an instructive and impressive talk by Herman J. Sheedy of Cleveland. He stressed that bonds should be bought from a patriotic standpoint to keep faith with the boys in the service, to help curb inflation and to set aside savings for future needs.

A member of the investment firm of McDonald & Co., Sheedy was vice chairman of the Third and Fourth War Loan drives and chairman of the Fifth and Sixth drives in Area One, covering 25 counties in northeastern Ohio.

Sheedy was introduced by County Chairman E. M. Stephenson, who spoke briefly on phases of the campaign. L. H. Colley, former county chairman, explained the issues to be sold, stating that they are practically the same as in other drives.

Gold Star Names Read
A new and impressive feature of the meeting was the reading of the names of 86 young men in the Salem district who have given their lives in the services. The names were read by Ralph Hawley and in response to each name, a team worker stood to momentarily represent the one who had given his life. In addition to the 86, Hawley reported that Lisbon's gold star list totals 13 to date, and two Beloit boys also have been killed.

Chairman McCulloch presented First Lieut. Hansell, home on furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Hansell, after 51 missions as a bombardier on a B-17.

Arch Harwood, chairman of the house-to-house division, gave final instructions to the teams and distributed supplies to the captains.

VITAL FIELD IS CAPTURED ON OKINAWA

Lull In Air War Against Japan After Superfort Raid

By LEONARD MILLIMAN, Associated Press War Editor
American ground forces broke through Balet pass, most stubbornly defended Japanese front in the Philippines, at the price of sobering losses, and prepared today for crucial drives on Okinawa island knowing "the cost may be high."

The air war against the Mikado's home island appeared to take a momentary lull after yesterday's successful 500-plane Superfortress raid on industrial Nagoya and a two-day carrier attack on southern airfields involving 1,500 sorties, but movements of air force generals clearly indicated greater aerial assaults were in the making.

Seize Airfield
Contrasting with slight local gains reported on every other battlefield, the U. S. 96th division rolled back the Japanese eastern flank on Okinawa for 2,400 yards to seize Yonabaru airfield, and the 25th and 37th divisions capture treacherous Balet pass in the northern Philippines to climax a months-long battle.

The pass, a 75-foot defile whose walls were laced with Japanese caves, is the key to Cagayan valley, breadbasket of still strong enemy forces on northern Luzon island. The 25th and 37th, moving cautiously through the pass today, were within two miles of a junction at Santa Fe where the 32nd, coming up Villa Verde trail.

Seven thousand Japanese were known to have been killed in the battle for the pass. Officers estimated the figure probably would reach 20,000. American losses, while much smaller, were described as sobering.

Okinawa, Saipan
Equally costly has been the Sixth Marine division's painful advance on Naha, prime objective of the Okinawa campaign. The rubble-strewn city, overhung with the stench of death and great plumes of smoke from 12 fires is "in its death throes," reported Associated Press War Correspondent Al Dopping, "and it is dying hard."

Only noteworthy advance yesterday on Okinawa, 325 miles south of Japan, was on the east coast. Two companies of the 96th captured strategic, 480-foot Conical hill, permitting other units of the division to roll 2,400 yards down the coast and seize the fourth airfield of the campaign.

The 24th division beat off six banzai charges on Mindanao in the southern Philippines; Australians made limited gains on Tarakan and New Guinea; British and Indians made local advances in the Burma clean-up and Chinese were mopping up in the port city of Fochow.

Three Superforts were lost in the record fire raid on Nagoya, where smoke from blazes started by more than a million incendiary bombs mingled with thick clouds, obscuring the extent of damage.

President Hopeful For 'Big 3' Parley

WASHINGTON, May 15.—President Truman said today he hoped to meet soon with Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin to discuss the future peace program.

The President told reporters he had discussed such a meeting with British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden yesterday but that no definite decision had been made.

He said he hoped that they could get around a table soon but he did not believe it would be immediate.

WMC EASES UP ON LABOR CONTROLS

CLEVELAND, May 15.—The Regional War Manpower Commission will expedite reconversion of Ohio, Kentucky and Michigan factories needed for war production "in order to avoid unemployment as a result of cutbacks," says Director Edward L. Keenan.

The regional chief yesterday announced employers wishing to reconvert from war production would not need WMC approval in the following cases:

In "tight" labor districts (groups one and two) where the War Production board approved the release of materials and where the applicant certified his production employees would not exceed 100.

In construction work where the largest number of workers would at no time exceed 25.

In noncritical labor areas (group three, four or unclassified) where the WPB approved release of materials for civilian production.

Area directors were also empowered to suspend WMC regulations for 30 to 90 days in areas where cutbacks resulted in temporary unemployment.

"Pictures and descriptions of the conditions at this camp cannot adequately portray what we saw there, and it is only when the stench of the camp is smelled that anyone can have a complete appreciation of the depths of degradation to which the German Nazi government and those responsible for it had dropped in their treatment of those who have failed to embrace the doctrines of the 'master race.'"

A macabre detail of the Dachau camp was related. There "prisoners of distinction, including those with military records, were permitted to kneel in a small boardroom."

Doolittle Awaits New Air Assignment

LONDON, May 15.—Lieut. Gen. James H. Doolittle was headed today for the U. S. Army Air Force's headquarters in Washington, probably to receive a Pacific command assignment that will assure Tokyo of blows far more staggering than the one he delivered personally on April 18, 1942.

An official announcement said the stocky, 48-year-old commander of the U. S. Eighth Air Force would return to Washington "for a new assignment."

There seemed little doubt that the special talents of the man, who organized and led the first air attack on Tokyo by B-25 Mitchell medium bombers more than three years ago would be utilized in the Pacific.

Swerves Truck, Strikes Two Boys In Driveway

Two boys who were standing nearby escaped with minor injuries in a Route 30 traffic accident yesterday.

East Dixie, Jr., 16, of R. D. 1, East Rochester, swerved his farm truck into a service station driveway at 3:20 p. m. on Route 30 in Bayard, and struck Daniel Anthony, Jr., 10, of R. D. 2, Minerva. The boy suffered a sprained ankle, bruises, and abrasions of the left leg. Another youth, Billy Orr, 12, also of R. D. 2, Minerva, received a bump on the head when Anthony was thrown against him by the impact. Both were treated by a Minerva doctor.

The driver was passing a bus and swerved to avoid a head-on collision with an approaching auto.

MONDAY RALLY OPENS CITY'S BOND DRIVE

Workers Receive Supplies, Begin Task of Raising $1,184,800

Salem's Seventh War Loan drive got off to a good start at a meeting of 100 workers in the Memorial building last night, presided over by City Chairman R. S. McCulloch.

With the biggest task confronting them since the bond drives were inaugurated, these workers, led by their team captains and division chairmen, received their supplies and mapped out a campaign to contact every household in the city within the next three days.

With a quota of $1,184,800 to reach by the end of June, the group faces the task of selling nearly twice as many E bonds as in the last drive. The goal for these popular bonds is $723,490, less than half of which has been sold in the preliminary campaign through the factories.

Breakfast Awaits Workers

Those workers who complete the house-to-house campaign by Thursday night will be guests of Chairman McCulloch at a breakfast at 8 a. m. Friday in the Memorial building. And the city chairman is expecting to feed some 150.

Last night's meeting was highlighted by an instructive and impressive talk by Herman J. Sheedy of Cleveland. He stressed that bonds should be bought from a patriotic standpoint to keep faith with the boys in the service, to help curb inflation and to set aside savings for future needs.

A member of the investment firm of McDonald & Co., Sheedy was vice chairman of the Third and Fourth War Loan drives and chairman of the Fifth and Sixth drives in Area One, covering 26 counties in northeastern Ohio.

Sheedy was introduced by County Chairman E. M. Stephenson, who spoke briefly on phases of the campaign. L. H. Colley, former county chairman, explained the issues to be sold, stating that they are practically the same as in other drives.

New Star Names Read

A gold and impressive feature of the meeting was the reading of the names of 86 young men in the Salem district who have given their lives in the services. The names were read by Ralph Hawley and in response to each name, a team worker stood to momentarily represent the one who had given his life.

In addition to the 86, Hawley reported that Lisbon's gold star list totals 13 to date, and two Beloit boys also have been killed.

Chairman McCulloch presented First Lieut. Hansell, home on furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Hansell, after 51 missions as a bombardier on a B-17.

Arch Harwood, chairman of the house-to-house division, gave final instructions to the teams and distributed supplies to the captains.

VITAL FIELD IS CAPTURED ON OKINAWA

Lull In Air War Against Japan After Superfort Raid

By LEONARD MILLMAN, Associated Press War Editor

American ground forces broke through Balete pass, most stubbornly defended Japanese front in the Philippines, at the price of sobering losses, and prepared today for crucial drives on Okinawa island knowing "the cost may be high."

The air war against the Mikado's home island appeared to take a momentary lull after yesterday's successful 500-plane Superfortress raid on industrial Nagoya, and a two-day carrier attack on southern airfields involving 1,500 sorties, but movements of air force generals clearly indicated greater aerial assaults were in the making.

Seize Airfield

Contrasting with slight local gains reported on every other battlefield, the U. S. 96th division rolled back the Japanese eastern flank on Okinawa for 2,400 yards to seize Yonabaru air field, and the 25th and 37th divisions capture treacherous Balete pass in the northern Philippines to climax a months-long battle.

The pass, a 75-foot defile whose walls were faced with Japanese caves, is the key to Cagayan valley, breadbasket of still strong enemy forces on northern Luzon island. The 25th and 37th, moving cautiously through the pass today, were within two miles of a junction at Santa Fe with the 32nd, coming up Villa Verde trail.

Seven thousand Japanese were known to have been killed in the battle for the pass. Officers estimated the figure probably would reach 30,000. American losses, while much smaller, were described as sobering.

Okinawa, Saipan

Equally costly has been the Sixth Marine division's painful advance on Naha, prime objective of the Okinawa campaign. The rubble-strewn city overhung with the stench of death and great plumes of smoke from 12 fires is "in its death throes," reported Associated Press War Correspondent Al Dopping, "and it is dying hard."

Only noteworthy advance yesterday on Okinawa, 325 miles south of Japan, was on the east coast. Two companies of the 96th captured strategic, 480-foot Conical hill, permitting other units of the division to roll 2,400 yards down the coast and seize the fourth air field of the campaign.

The 24th division beat off six banzai charges on Mindanao in the southern Philippines; Australians made limited gains on Takan and New Guinea; British and Indians made local advances in the Burma clean-up and Chinese were mopping up in the port city of Fochow.

Three Superforts were lost in record fire raid on Nagoya, where smoke from blazes started by more than a million fire bombs mingled with thick clouds, obscuring the extent of damage.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—President Truman said today he hoped to meet soon with Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin to discuss the future peace program.

The President told reporters he had discussed such a meeting with British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden yesterday but that no definite decision had been made.

He said he hoped that they could get around a table soon but he did not believe it would be immediately.

LONDON, May 15.—Prime Minister Churchill said today he hoped for a meeting soon with Marshal Stalin and President Truman and, in reply to another query in common, refused to commit himself on the question of whether Hitler is dead.

The prime minister said Britain would not hold formal victory parades and celebrations until Japan is defeated.

A Case For The FBI

Counterfeiting has always been considered one of the most serious of federal offenses, punished promptly and severely by all the powers of the federal government. The printing and distribution of fake ration stamps is just as serious as any other form of counterfeiting. It breaks down public confidence in government and it complicates an already troublesome food situation.

Now that the spy menace is almost non-existent in this country, the full strength of the F.B.I. might well be thrown into the fight against this particularly despicable form of crime.

Federal agents have done some work already but it is apparent that the conspiracy to break down the food distribution is so widespread that an all-out offensive is called for.

The fame of the F.B.I. is so widely and so well founded that the mere fact these crack enforcement officers were on the job would have a most helpful effect. Criminals who have no respect for the O.P.A. inspectors would be very cautious about engaging the counterfeit stamp business if they knew the F.B.I. were on the case.

Black market operations in food are a definite form of sabotage against the war effort and the home morale. They can be stopped if the right kind of a campaign is conducted against them and the F.B.I. is the organization to do it.

Rebuilding Tolerance

Racial hatreds bred into the German people by years of Nazi propaganda will not be uprooted by mere declaration that the war is ended. Pitiful survivors of the concentration camps will come back into the world to face a life of many problems.

Their possessions have been stolen and the minds of the German people, especially its youth, have been poisoned against them. The armies of occupation will be able to protect these people against physical violence but they cannot separate them from the intolerance which shows itself in other ways.

Hope for these racial minorities must come from an awakened world consciousness of universal brotherhood. If this and the other free countries practice equality among all people no single nation can long preserve its own barriers of hate and its fictitious superiority of blood and birth.

Americans can best show their sympathy and their practical help for the oppressed peoples abroad by practicing at home a breadth of understanding which will give to all people equal rights, equal opportunities and an even measure of that feeling of kinship which is the true test of tolerance.

Buying After A War

The years which followed the first World war provide no barometer by which to measure civilian buying and industrial activity likely to come after V-J day.

In 1918 only one-fourth as many people owned automobiles or expected to buy new ones. The radio was still in the future. Only a few of the wealthier families owned mechanical refrigerators. The system of time payments on which the nation's later industrial growth was founded was still slightly unrespected.

Employment, business and prices rose steadily after peace was declared in 1918. This time America has been in the war twice as long and has months of fighting still ahead, civilian production has been curtailed much more severely and more people have been working at higher wages and, in theory at least, have much more money put away with which to buy things when they become available.

These are some of the reasons why the men who know are showing honest optimism in their outlook on the employment prospects for the years after the war.

The Stars Say

For Wednesday, May 16.

THE lunar transits in operation on this day encourage the determination to concentrate the efforts and energies upon the achievement of fairly ambitious goals, probably promotion, favors from employers or superiors, or for seeking more conspicuous posts in public, community or fraternal organizations, where those in high places may be disposed to bestow honors or tokens of preferment. Work discreetly and tactfully for this, as the way is beset with certain tricky or perilous contacts, with danger in agreements, documents or other writings. Sign all such cautiously.

Those whose birthday it is have fair promise of achieving its desired objectives, possibly promotion or favors in employment, or advancement, honors or tokens of esteem in public, community or group organizations. Business standing and influence as well as personal popularity and prestige are in sight, although there is need for discreet, vigilant and careful activities against pitfalls, treacheries or other dangers, probably through fraud, misunderstandings, or misconstruction of documents, writings or verbal agreements. Be wise, also, in change, travel, deals with agencies.

A child born on this day will have fair ambitions, reached by favors from those in authority, although it may be subject to fraud or treachery, with a leaning to easy ways of its own.

Censoring Atrocities

By James Thrasher

The Motion Picture Producers and Distributors association, better and more briefly known as the Hays office, has a code of morals for movie entertainment. The code is concerned with such things as the cut of Miss Jane Russell's movie gowns or the flavor of Mr. Humphrey Bogart's movie dialogue. It sets the pattern by which all but one of the major studios tailor their product.

Currently there is a controversy between the Hays office and Irvin Shapiro, producer of a documentary film called "We Accuse". This is a film record of the Kharkov trial of Nazi criminals, complete with evidence of their crimes. The controversy was over whether such a picture should be made to fit the pattern of the production code.

The Hays office has pointed out that the hour-long film shows 97 separate scenes of atrocity victims, and that some of these scenes are repeated. It takes umbrage at a spoken line represented as expressing the Nazis' attitude toward Russian civilians: "Let them bury their own dead and be damned." (Except in rare instances, dialogue which includes such words as hell or damn doesn't get the code seal of approval.)

So the seal has not been granted "We Accuse" in its present form. This means that Mr. Shapiro can't show it in theaters controlled by MPPDA members—which are most of the country's leading movie houses. Mr. Shapiro says he will book the unaltered film in independent theaters.

Probably the Hays office can make a good case for itself and its inflexible code, which is designed to see that movie entertainment is harmless to morals and delicate tastes. It might say that there is enough unpleasantness in the world without showing it on the screen, and that swear words and certainly strong doses of war's atrocities are not for movie-going women and children. And we might agree part way.

Newspapers and newsreels (which don't come under the Hays office jurisdiction) have not dodged the unpleasant duty of picturing that evidence, evidence so important that General Eisenhower summoned congressmen and editors to Germany to see a small sample for themselves.

It would be easier and pleasanter to forget it all and not scar our own and our children's minds with remembrance. But it might be fatal. So we do not think that young or old should be impeded from exposing themselves to the full impact of this war's record of horrors.

Trigeminal Neuralgia, A Nerve Disease

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

A PAINFUL condition of the face known as trigeminal neuralgia is one of those stubborn disorders which may require operation for relief.

Just what causes this disorder is not definitely known. It has been treated by injections of large amounts of vitamin B-complex, by cutting a part of the fifth nerve which supplies the face structures, and by injections of alcohol along the nerve.

Doctors Maynard Murray and Ellen O'Perrell of Cincinnati think that trigeminal neuralgia, or tic douloureux as it sometimes is called, may be due to irritation of the fifth nerve as a result of poisoning from infection of the teeth or the bones surrounding the teeth. This infection may come from decayed teeth or from the bone known as the alveolar bone which surrounds the teeth. The infection may extend into the jaw bone itself in some instances. These physicians state that a careful examination of the mouth structures will help to tell just what treatment will be needed in these instances.

When the gums are reddened and swollen, when there are areas of bone which are tender, or when patients complain of discomfort due to ill-fitting plates some type of surgical procedure may be necessary. None of these things occur when the bone structures are healthy and free from infection.

25 Cases Studied
Twenty-five patients with tic douloureux who had been previously treated medically, surgically or by the dentist without obtaining permanent relief were studied. Following their treatment, which consisted of removal of the alveolar bone plus the extraction of decayed teeth when needed, all of the patients became free from symptoms for a period of four months to four years.

In trigeminal neuralgia there are attacks of pain in the face which may be so severe as to be disabling. The attacks come on at frequent intervals and in some cases strong drugs are needed to give even temporary relief.

Of those patients studied by Doctors Murray and O'Perrell many had taken large doses of salicylates and narcotics. Many had had teeth extracted without any relief of their symptoms. In the patients studied the right side of the face was affected more frequently than the left.

There doctors think that injections of alcohol along the nerve just give temporary relief from the acute pain and are not curative. On the other hand, the permanent relief which was obtained by surgical removal of the alveolar tissue and the pulling of decayed teeth seems to indicate to them that the cause of trigeminal neuralgia lies in poisoning of the nerve or direct infection of the nerve.

Furthermore, the source of this infection is in the teeth or the infected bone of the alveolar structures around the teeth.

It would appear worthwhile for every person who has trigeminal neuralgia to have a careful study made of the mouth structures so that any abnormal conditions may be treated.

A Case For the FBI

Counterfeiting has always been considered one of the most serious of federal offenses, punished promptly and severely by all the powers of the federal government. The printing and distribution of fake ration stamps is just as serious as any other form of counterfeiting. It breaks down public confidence in government and it complicates an already troublesome food situation.

Now that the spy menace is almost non-existent in this country, the full strength of the FBI might well be thrown into the fight against this particularly despicable form of crime.

Federal agents have done some work already but it is apparent that the conspiracy to break down the food distribution is so widespread that an all-out offensive is called for.

The fame of the FBI is so widely and so well founded that the mere fact these crack enforcement officers were on the job would have a most helpful effect. Criminals who have no respect for the O.P.A. inspectors would be very cautious about engaging the counterfeit stamp business if they knew the FBI were on the case.

Black market operations in food are a definite form of sabotage against the war effort and the home morale. They can be stopped if the right kind of a campaign is conducted against them and the FBI is the organization to do it.

Rebuilding Tolerance

Racial hatreds bred into the German people by years of Nazi propaganda will not be uprooted by mere declaration that the war is ended. Pitiful survivors of the concentration camps will come back into the world to face a life of many problems.

Their possessions have been stolen and the minds of the German people, especially its youth, have been poisoned against them. The armies of occupation will be able to protect these people against physical violence but they cannot separate them from the intolerance which shows itself in other ways.

Hope for these racial minorities must come from an awakened world consciousness of universal brotherhood. If this and the other free countries practice equality among all people no single nation can long preserve its own barriers of hate and its fictitious superiority of blood and birth.

Americans can best show their sympathy and their practical help for the oppressed peoples abroad by practicing at home a breadth of understanding which will give to all people equal rights, equal opportunities and an even measure of that feeling of kinship which is the true test of tolerance.

Buying After A War

The years which followed the first World war provide no barometer by which to measure civilian buying and industrial activity likely to come after V-J day.

In 1918 only one-fourth as many people owned automobiles or expected to buy new ones. The radio was still in the future. Only a few of the wealthier families owned mechanical refrigerators. The system of time payments on which the nation's later industrial growth was founded was still slightly unrepresentative.

Employment, business and prices rose steadily after peace was declared in 1918. This time America has been in the war twice as long and has months of fighting still ahead, civilian production has been curtailed much more severely and more people have been working at higher wages and, in theory at least, have much more money put away with which to buy things when they become available.

These are some of the reasons why the men who know are showing honest optimism in their outlook on the employment prospects for the years after the war.

The Stars Say

For Wednesday, May 16.

THE lunar transits in operation on this day encourage the determination to concentrate the efforts and energies upon the achievement of fairly ambitious goals, probably promotion, favors from employers or superiors, or for seeking more conspicuous posts in public, community or fraternal organizations, where those in high places may be disposed to bestow honors or tokens of preferment. Work discreetly and tactfully for this, as the way is beset with certain tricky or perilous contacts, with danger in agreements, documents or other writings. Sign all such cautiously.

Those whose birthday it is have fair promise of achieving its desired objectives, possibly promotion or favors in employment, or advancement, honors or tokens of esteem in public, community or group organizations. Business standing and influence as well as personal popularity and prestige are in sight, although there is need for discreet, vigilant and careful activities against pitfalls, treacheries or other dangers, probably through fraud, misunderstanding, or misconstruction of documents, writings or verbal agreements. Be wise, also, in change, travel, deals with agencies.

A child born on this day will have fair ambitions, reached by favors from those in authority, although it may be subject to fraud or treachery, with a leaning to easy ways of its own.

Censoring Atrocities

By James Thrasher

The Motion Picture Producers and Distributors association, better and more briefly known as the Hays office, has a code of morals for movie entertainment. The code is concerned with such things as the cut of Miss Jane Russell's movie gowns or the flavor of Mr. Humphrey Bogart's movie dialogue. It sets the pattern by which all but one of the major studios tailor their product.

Currently there is a controversy between the Hays office and Irvin Shapiro, producer of a documentary film called "We Accuse". This is a film record of the Kharkov trial of Nazi criminals, complete with evidence of their crimes. The controversy was over whether such a picture should be made to fit the pattern of the production code.

The Hays office has pointed out that the hour-long film shows 97 separate scenes of atrocity victims, and that some of these scenes are repeated. It takes umbrage at a spoken line represented as expressing the Nazis' attitude toward Russian civilians: "Let them bury their own dead and be damned." (Except in rare instances, dialogue which includes such words as hell or damn doesn't get the code seal of approval.)

So the seal has not been granted "We Accuse" in its present form. This means that Mr. Shapiro can't show it in theaters controlled by MPPDA members—which are most of the country's leading movie houses. Mr. Shapiro says he will book the unaltered film in independent theaters.

Probably the Hays office can make a good case for itself and its inflexible code, which is designed to see that movie entertainment is harmless to morals and delicate tastes. It might say that there is enough unpleasantness in the world without showing it on the screen, and that swear words and certainly strong doses of war's atrocities are not for movie-going women and children. And we might agree part way.

Certainly we don't think atrocity pictures are pleasant sight for anyone. But we are convinced that they happened, and to women and children as decent and innocent as the movie-goers whom the production code protects. And we don't think the Hays-office policy of bland innocuousness should suppress any documentary evidence against the enemy whom we have just defeated.

Newspapers and newsreels (which don't come under the Hays office jurisdiction) have not dodged the unpleasant duty of picturing that evidence, evidence so important that General Eisenhower summoned congressmen and editors to Germany to see a small sample for themselves.

It would be easier and pleasanter to forget it all and not scar our own and our children's minds with remembrance. But it might be fatal. So we do not think that young or old should be impeded from exposing themselves to the full impact of this war's record of horrors.

Trigeminal Neuralgia, A Nerve Disease

By HERMAN N. RUNDESEN, M. D.

A PAINFUL condition of the face known as trigeminal neuralgia is one of those stubborn disorders which may require operation for relief.

Just what causes this disorder is not definitely known. It has been treated by injections of large amounts of vitamin B-complex, by cutting a part of the fifth nerve which supplies the face structures, and by injections of alcohol along the nerve.

Doctors Maynard Murray and Ellen O'Perrell of Cincinnati think that trigeminal neuralgia, or tic douloureux as it sometimes is called, may be due to irritation of the fifth nerve as a result of poisoning from infection of the teeth or the bones surrounding the teeth.

This infection may come from decayed teeth or from the bone known as the alveolar bone which surrounds the teeth. The infection may extend into the jaw bone itself in some instances. These physicians state that a careful examination of the mouth structures will help to tell just what treatment will be needed in these instances.

When the gums are reddened and swollen, when there are areas of bone which are tender, or when patients complain of discomfort due to ill-fitting plates some type of surgical procedure may be necessary. None of these things occur when the bone structures are healthy and free from infection.

25 Cases Studied
Twenty-five patients, with tic douloureux who had been previously treated medically, surgically or by the dentist without obtaining permanent relief were studied. Following their treatment, which consisted of removal of the alveolar bone plus the extraction of decayed teeth when needed, all of the patients became free from symptoms for a period of four months to four years.

In trigeminal neuralgia there

are attacks of pain in the face which may be so severe as to be disabling. The attacks come on at frequent intervals and in some cases strong drugs are needed to give even temporary relief.

Of those patients studied by Doctors Murray and O'Perrell many had taken large doses of salicylates and narcotics. Many had had teeth extracted without any relief of their symptoms. In the patients studied the right side of the face was affected more frequently than the left.

These doctors think that injections of alcohol along the nerve just give temporary relief from the acute pain and are not curative. On the other hand, the permanent relief which was obtained by surgical removal of the alveolar tissue and the pulling of decayed teeth seems to indicate to them that the cause of trigeminal neuralgia lies in poisoning of the nerve or direct infection of the nerve.

Furthermore, the source of this infection is in the teeth or the infected bone of the alveolar structures around the teeth.

It would appear worthwhile for every person who has trigeminal neuralgia to have a careful study made of the mouth structures so that any abnormal conditions may be treated.

A SONG to REMEMBER

by Willard Wiener

VI

THE years left few scars on the ancient village of Zelazowa Wola. The houses were a little more weather beaten but hardly to a noticeable degree. Pigs wallowed in the fifth and goats made their homes in the dirt floor rooms of the poor. Peasants still toiled in the fields and the fruits of the earth belonged as always to the lord of the manor and to the members of his household. There were dry days and wet ones. And in the rainy season the deeply rutted road to Warsaw was virtually impassable. It was the same from year to year. The summers were hot, the winters cold. The silence of the countryside, broken by the song of birds, spelled peace, only to a stranger's ear. Soldiers of the East with whips and sabers, had only recently put down an uprising of the downtrodden, and any Pole with an ear to the ground might still hear the sickening cries of the wounded and the womenfolk whose men had either been taken prisoner or struck down.

The village survived. But faces yesterday were young, were old today. You had only to look on the face of Mamma Chopin to see that. A dozen years had left their indelible mark on her features in the lines about her mouth, in the creases that already began to lie in the folds of her neck, in her hands that were no longer smooth. In Mamma Chopin there was also a marked change. He walked now with a stoop and stood erect only when his mind was on it, and then only with an effort. His hair was still thick, though beginning to gray. Yet his sideburns were as trim as ever.

And Emilia had now been dead for five years. She had been Frederic's favorite sister.

The child, she was fourteen, had been taken with a violent cough and had been confined to her bed for four weeks. She had begun to get blood. Mamma was in a panic. The girl was attended by one Malec who ordered an immediate blood-letting, and that was done, not once but twice.

But it did not help any. Nothing that was done did any good.

After a while the coughing was over and the young girl was quiet. Her body was still, a smile on her cheeks. But Emilia was not there; she was gone, no longer of this earth.

Then at night in the dark Frederic sat for hours at the piano. They could not tear him away. They let him be. He improvised, he labored over the keys until he had finally the deep rhythmic tones for which he had been groping— heavy, slow, steady, rhythmic tones—a march funeral that would forever echo down the years to keep alive the memory of the loving dead.

At the age of 22 there was a look "more spiritual than dreamy" in the blue eyes of Frederic Chopin. His nose, "slightly aquiline," was not so prominent as it seemed to have been in his boyhood. He was neither tall nor short. His legs, however, seemed not to have developed fully, and his hair was not so black as the jet of his youth.

The year was 1832 and in his home village he was a man of distinction and among a limited circle in Warsaw something of a celebrity as a composer.

"Frederic, are you in love?" Mamma Chopin one day asked him. "Do believe you are."

"You have sharp eyes," he said. Then he took Mamma to his arms and hugged her tight.

"The girl!" Mamma Chopin demanded, putting her son at arms length. "Who is she? Some little Warsaw witch who has set her cap for you?"

"Now, Mamma, don't be hard on her. She's a wonderful girl—the most wonderful in all the world, Mamma."

"Frederic, give me a straight answer. Don't go around the question. It is only to be expected that some day—"

"I will never marry her."

"Your Papa and I will decide that," Mamma said.

"—But my darling, you can't decide."

"There is nothing your Papa and I can't do, once we have put our minds to it."

"Don't put your minds to this, Mamma. The lady who has my heart already has a husband—"

"Frederic!"

"—True."

"—Terrible!"

"No."

"Frederic, when I tell you it is terrible, it is terrible. What else could it be? You will promise me instantly to forget her, that you will not give her another thought—not another thought. Promise. Let me hear it—now—instantly—"

"How can I promise that, Mamma?"

"You must. It's not to be thought of—that, our only son should give his heart—No, Frederic, I—I can't even say it—"

"You look in my eyes Mamma. What do you see?"

"—Please, Frederic, I am in no mood for that."

"Mamma, I want you to look."

"—Well, I am looking."

"—Yes. But not close enough, Mamma."

He took her into his arms again. He caught her tight about the waist.

"Frederic, what are you doing?"

"—Only this, Mamma—I am kissing the only woman I will ever love—only you, Mamma—only you. And I am wondering what the lady's husband will say. Do you think he will object terribly?"

• SO THEY SAY

We will utilize all land masses near Japan as fast as we can take them, but the islands we already have can absorb much more of the Air Forces. Lack of engineering troops to develop bases is a critical item.

To quit before Japan is utterly crushed may get our sons back sooner, but as sure as fate our grandsons will fight and bleed and die, just as our sons are doing today, if we stop short of complete victory.

During these years of battle our we peoples have forged a new friendship. I trust our wartime comradeship will be followed by ever closer understanding and cooperation.

Rail Is High! The Mighty 7th War Loan Buy Extra Bonds... May 14—June 30

Groundwork

Millions will be needed for "Deferred Maintenance"

TODAY's mighty war loads are riding on foundations like that pictured... "highways" into which the railroads have put more than 4 billion dollars for improvements since the last war. This groundwork is the necessary basis for carrying the greatest load in history.

Wear and tear on roadway, bridges, locomotives, cars and equipment have been terrific. And material and labor for needed maintenance are not obtainable now beyond the minimum necessary for safe, continued operation. As a result, much work that should be done has had to be deferred. So the railroads are wearing out 25 per cent faster than they can be restored.

Money from current revenue should be saved to pay for the needed repairs and replacements when material and labor are available. But the tax law forbids. If money for needed repairs cannot be spent as it is earned it is considered "profit" and practically taxed away. But it isn't profit. It is the life-blood of the railroads.

To tax this money away, simply because it cannot be spent now due to war conditions, threatens the backbone of American transportation.

Congressional amendment of the tax law to permit this money to be put aside for repairs and replacement would mean strong postwar railroads and thousands of jobs for returning fighting men in furnishing materials and restoring the railroads for the needs of tomorrow.

U. S. Power Is Setting Stage For 'Last Act' Of Pacific War

By THOMAS M. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON—While the world gazes in fascination toward Europe and the greatest victory in military annals, Allied commanders are quietly solving a vast problem in logistics—transportation and supply—which is the buildup for D-day in Asia.

From six continents and seven seas we are assembling, mostly around a few islands, what will be the most powerful triphibious forces ever deployed. By air, sea and land they are assuming position to crush Japan as Germany was crushed.

The pressure will come partly from British, Indians, Anzacs, French, Dutch, Chinese, and probably Russians. But the direction comes largely from our Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington, the execution from American admirals and generals—and from American forces which will be perhaps twice our present Pacific strength of around 2,500,000 from here and Europe, using improved shipping methods.

Engineers On Hand
Already Pacific bases are being prepared by engineers newly arrived with materials from England. Air Force ground and bomber crews are also leaving there. Bombers, freed by the Luftwaffe's debacle, will be following soon. Astronomical quantities of bombs already are going. Next will come armored divisions, which the Japs have never faced.

All this strength is borne to the Far East by the mightiest fleets that ever sailed the seas. They include a fair share of the Navy and Merchant Marine tonnage, now within hailing distance of 50 millions. The Navy alone completed nearly 38,000 ships this year, including many additions to its 60,000 landing craft.

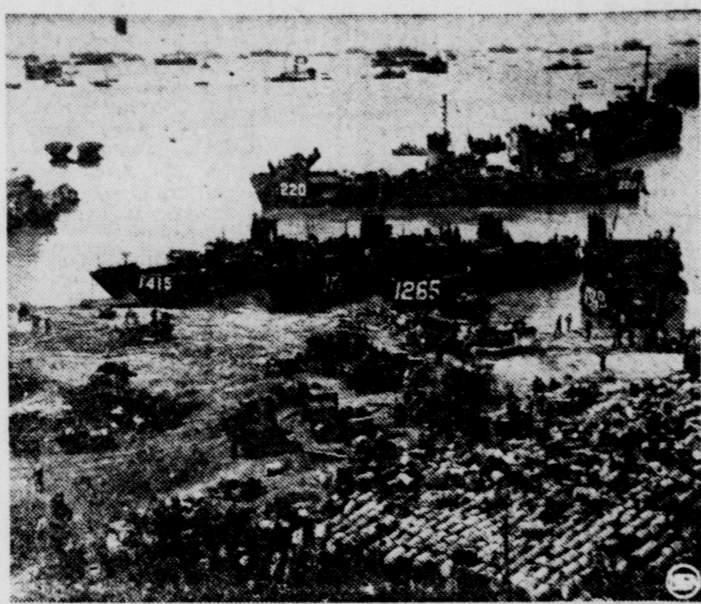

For D-day in Europe we moved and supplied an army across a 3000-mile ocean, using the many good ports of our east coast and England, for a 26-mile jump across the Channel. For D-day in Asia we have few west coast ports, and 7000 miles of ocean to whatever close-up base we find.

Where will that base be, and where will we go from it? Will we play safe or take a chance? Will Allied forces first retake Burma's oil and Java's rubber to ease supply for the jump-off? And will the jump-off be from the Philippines to Formosa, and thence to the Chinese mainland at Amoy and Swatow, or even direct to Hong Kong from Manila or to Shanghai from Okinawa?

That would bring China adequate food and supplies for her civilians and her armies, which then could help us clear their country of Japanese so that it could serve as a vast staging area for the final blow against the main Japanese islands. Those islands, meantime, would have been worn down by blockade and bombing.

CALCULATED RISK
Or, leaving other operations to other nations, will the Americans take a stupendous calculated risk? Will they concentrate feverishly on developing Okinawa's great open spaces into the biggest man-made island base in history, a base whence we can launch an attack directly at Japan?

Audacious—but Japan's sea and air power would be too crippled for a real counter-attack. Her vast army, though largely concentrated at home, would be disjointed by

History's mightiest fleets are pouring men and supplies into Pacific island ports such as this one for the final crushing blow against Japan

U. S. CITIES SET NEW TAX RATES

Numerous Municipalities
Add Special Levies To Raise Revenue

(U. S. United Press)

CHICAGO—American cities are tapping new sources of revenue to help finance increased wartime governmental services, according to a report by the International City Managers' Assn.

Eighty-six cities, or 10 per cent of the cities of 10,000 or more population which were included in the report, reported adoption of new locally-collected revenue during the past year or that some old sources, other than the property tax, had been increased.

The new revenue sources included: sales tax, service charges for refuse collection and sewer use; amusement taxes and licenses; rentals from parking lots and airports; utility taxes; special business fees.

Cities are attempting to get increased revenue from businesses which have increased incomes as a result of war activities and increased population.

Consumers' Utility Tax
San Bernardino, Calif., has adopted a sales tax. It is expected to produce more than $400,000 in revenue this year. The levy is one per cent.

Columbus, O., has developed a new and comprehensive program for additional revenue this year which will provide the city with more than half the funds needed for its $3,600,000 budget.

More than half of the new revenue comes from a five per cent consumers' utility tax which is added to all gas, electric, telephone and water bills. The tax will raise $850,000 annually.

Another charge to Columbus citizens, for garbage and refuse collection, will raise $325,000. The local transportation company, which had not been paying the city for many years, has agreed to pay $1,500,000 for a five-year license.

Other income will include rent collected from non-municipal agencies occupying space in the city hall; increased taxi fees; licenses on local gas and telephone companies; collection of back sewer rental charges; cleaning and sprinkling charges from Ohio State university and other state and federal agencies.

18 Add Refuse Fees

Eighteen cities adopted garbage and refuse collection fees last year. They included: Cambridge, Mass.; Columbus, O.; Alliquippa, Greensburg, Jeannette and Washington, Pa.; Guthrie and Shawnee, Okla.; Long Branch, N. J.; Lodi and South Pasadena, Cal.; Panama City, Fla.; Grosse Pointe Park and Traverse City, Mich.; Beatrice, Neb.; Sweetwater, Tex., and Sunnyside and Vancouver, Wash.

Detroit increased its license fee for 43 of the 98 activities licensed by the city to increase revenues by $200,000, Saginaw, Mich., expects to receive $500 per month from a municipal parking lot and Greeley, Col., expects $3,500 to $5,000 from a similar source.

Grosse Pointe, Mich., gained $5,000 by eliminating discounts from water bills and expects an additional $150,000 from water meter service.

Memphis has levied a four per cent gross receipts tax on telephone and telegraph companies for 10 years at a five per cent tax for the next eight years. Charleston, S. C., expects from $10,000 to $30,000 from an increase to one and one-half per cent of its levy on gross sales of gas and electric companies.

U. S. Power Is Setting Stage For 'Last Act' Of Pacific War

By THOMAS M. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON—While the world gazes in fascination toward Europe and the greatest victory in military annals, Allied commanders are quietly solving a vast problem in logistics—transportation and supply—which is the buildup for D-day in Asia.

From six continents and seven seas we are assembling, mostly around a few islands, what will be the most powerful tripartite forces ever deployed. By air, sea and land they are assuming position to crush Japan as Germany was crushed.

The pressure will come partly from British, Indians, Aussies, French, Dutch, Chinese, and probably Russians. But the direction comes largely from our joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington, the execution from American admirals and generals—and from American forces which will be perhaps twice our present Pacific strength of around 2,500,000 from here and Europe, using improved shipping methods.

Engineers On Hand

Already Pacific bases are being prepared by engineers newly arrived with materials from England. Air Force ground and bomber crews are also leaving there. Bombers, freed by the Luftwaffe's debacle, will be following soon. Astronomical quantities of bombs already are going. Next will come armored divisions, which the Japs have never faced.

All this strength is borne to the Far East by the mightiest fleets that ever sailed the seas. They include a fair share of the Navy and Merchant Marine tonnage, now within hailing distance of 50 millions. The Navy alone completed nearly 38,000 ships this year, including many additions to its 60,000 landing craft.

For D-day in Europe we moved and supplied an army across a 3000-mile ocean, using the many good ports of our east coast and England, for a 26-mile jump across the Channel. For D-day in Asia we have few west coast ports, and 7000 miles of ocean to whatever close-up base we find.

Where will that base be, and where will we go from it? Will we play safe or take a chance?

Will Allied forces first retake Borneo's oil and Java's rubber to base supply for the jump-off? And will the jump-off be from the Philippines to Formosa, and thence to the Chinese mainland at Amoy and Swatow, or even direct to Hong Kong from Manila or to Shanghai from Okinawa?

That would bring China adequate food and supplies for her civilians and her armies, which then could help us clear their country of Japanese so that it could serve as a vast staging area for the final blow against the main Japanese islands. Those islands, meantime, would have been worn down by blockade and bombing.

CALCULATED RISK

Or, leaving other operations to other nations, will the Americans take a stupendous calculated risk? Will they concentrate feverishly on developing Okinawa's great open spaces into the biggest man-made island base in history, a base whence we can launch an attack directly at Japan?

Audacious—but Japan's sea and air power would be too crippled for a real counter-attack. Her vast army, though largely concentrated at home, would be disjointed by

Softball Opening Tentatively Set For Centennial Monday.

Opening Date To Depend On Progress Of Repairing And Resurfacing At Park

Arrangements for the 1945 Class A softball season were completed at the Memorial building last night.

Seven teams—the Salem, Demings, Salem News, Mullins, Sinclair, Recreation and Leetonia—have declared intentions of entering and will begin play next week, it was decided at the meeting of managers and players.

One round will constitute six games, each team playing every other one in the loop once.

It was decided that each team shall narrow its list of players to 15 by the close of the first round and the limit thereafter will be 15. A team can sign replacements up to the 15-man limit at any time during the season, except after the opening of the final round.

Discharged veterans returning to Salem can sign and play with any team regardless of the quota, the managers agreed. Men home on leaves and furloughs can play with any team upon agreement of the opposing manager.

Contract books were issued to managers and all players must sign before being eligible to play. Contracts are binding with the player until a release is granted in writing by the manager of the team a man originally signed with.

Leetonia is to be scheduled for all second games, Joe M. Kelley, league manager, said. This arrangement was requested by the new outfit so that they can make the trip here more conveniently.

Rules on the new grounds at the park were discussed and agreed upon. Kelley announced that the selection of an umpire for both the A and B loops is undecided since Pat Bolen and Ray Reasbeck have left their availability a question. Both, however, may be at work when the first games get under way.

The date for the first games was tentatively set for next Monday, providing the field at the park is in shape to begin.

The possibility of opening then depends entirely on the weather conditions this week, Kelley said, as work can be finished if the weather allows.

Each team will be scheduled for two games a week, but three games will be required of at least one team each week in order to accommodate the seven team loop.

Kelley will announce the opening date late this week and will then disclose the final date for filling player rosters with league officials. All players who intend to play ball are instructed to get in touch with their managers and sign.

LANKY M'DONNELL FINALLY EARNS HIS BREAK WITH TRIBE

Swats Out Three Hits In Sunday Yank Game To Win Top Berth

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, May 15.—Slim Jim McDonnell got his break.

Cleveland Indians Manager Lou Boudreau yesterday indicated McDonnell would be his starting catcher against the righthanded pitchers and named him to backstop Allie Reynolds tonight when the Tribe opens its home night season against the Washington Nationals.

Righthander Johnny Niggeling was slated to throw them in for Washington Senator A. B. (Happy) Chandler, baseball's commissioner-elect, will be a special guest.

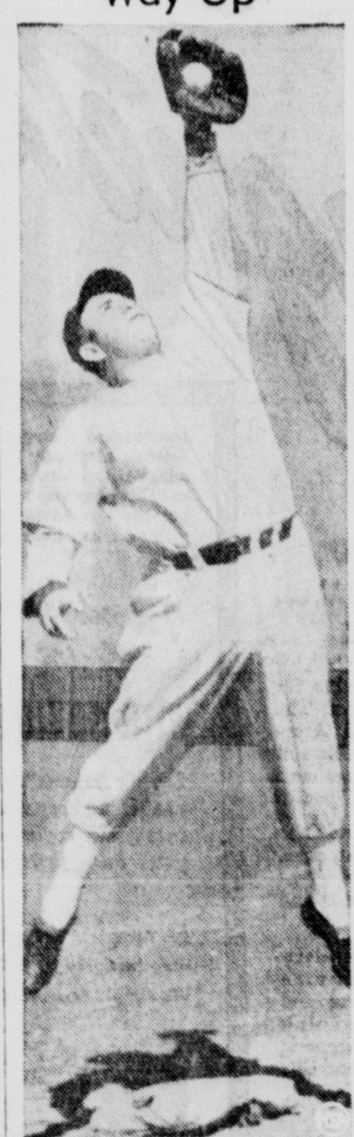

Reportedly the first string catcher in the spring training, Jim was shunted to the second spot because of his slight build—165 pounds stretched over almost six feet—made the Tribe strategists fear he wouldn't be able to take a full season behind the plate.

Jim cited to no avail his 1943 season when he caught 104 games for Wilkes-Barre—Hank Ruskowski got the nod. McDonnell plugged on and regained the top spot, only to have Jim Steiner appear and relegate him once more to second string.

But McDonnell caught Sunday's nightcap against the Yankees, smashing three straight hits, including a three-inning double, the loudest phase of the four-run blast which won the game, and he was in.

The Indians released Pitcher Paul Calvert yesterday to Baltimore of the International league to complete the swap which brought Centerfielder Felix Mackiewicz to the Wigwam.

SOLDIERS STEAMED UP ABOUT G. I. PUG

27-Year-Old Slugger Said To Be Best In Pacific War Theater

By RUSS NEWLAND

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15.—Boxing hero worshipers by and large tag after the heavyweight champions in wide-mouthed awe but this condition appears to be completely reversed on New Caledonia where the soldiers are toasting one of their own, all 126 pounds of him.

His name is Sgt. Salvatore Scornavacca, from Newark, N. J., and the Army's press release from the South Pacific French possession proudly notes the Little Sarge is featherweight champ of the Pacific ocean area. So far as the Army is concerned this embraces the Marshall, Gilbert, Marianas and Palau Islands and the South and Central Pacific base commands.

Sgt. Scornavacca traveled some 3,200 miles northeast to win his Army-Navy title in Honolulu before more than 20,000 fans, defeating two soldiers and a Marine in the finals.

Has Future Plans

The Sarge is 27 years old. His most recent ring success has created a post-war plan in his mind. He intends to box professionally upon his return home when its over and he has no misgivings about the future career he has set for himself. The Army press notice quotes Sgt. Scornavacca:

"I'm willing to bet I don't lose again from here on out. I'm near my peak but I don't think I've reached it yet. The way I figure it, I can fight until I'm 35 at my weight."

Scornavacca is a left-hander, and his athletic officer, Lieut. Jule A. Medwin, former Virginia Polytechnic Institute boxing coach, describes him as "a master at inflicting, particularly because his punches travel rapidly and at a distance of six or eight inches at the most."

Oh, yes, the Little Sarge has had two years' overseas service as a first cook in an ordnance outfit which means that even on the outside chance he doesn't make his mark in the pro ring he will be trained to make his living with a skill.

On Akron Card

AKRON, May 15.—Don Morrow, Cleveland heavyweight, who was awarded a draw after flooring Charlie Roth of Detroit seven times two weeks ago, will be rematched with Roth in the headline bout at the Armory tomorrow.

Other bouts carded were: Bobby Giles, Buffalo, vs. Ira Hughes, Akron; Pete Bolos, Detroit, vs. Oesie Peguese, Youngstown; Guy Lucas, Canton, vs. Bob Mason, Youngstown; Ray Nulph, Elwood City, Pa., vs. Chief Red Cloud, Detroit.

Ohio Wesleyan Wins

COLUMBUS, May 15.—Ohio Wesleyan university's strong baseball team laid down a barrage of 18 hits yesterday in scoring a 10 to 1 victory over the Capital university nine.

Poisen, Wesleyan hurler, allowed but one hit, Capital scoring on an error, a walk and a double steal.

Bums Again Are The Center Of Baseball World, Riding The Crest Of Nine In Row

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

Brooklyn again was the baseball capital of the nation today with the glorious Bums riding blissfully on a nine-game winning streak and basking in the sports page headlines.

The team that couldn't beat the Army nine at West Point in spring training had suddenly turned "killers" and hadn't lost a single contest of five played against the "toughies" from the west who were supposed to knock out their brains. They were only two lengths behind the leading New York Giants.

When the Brooks thumped the Phillies four in a row, the experts warningly pointed a finger and said "Wait until the Cards get here."

The Cards came and lost, so did the Reds, and the Pirates arrived yesterday in time to become the ninth victim. To top it off, a rookie named Leroy Pfund, who hadn't been trusted with a previous starting assignment, got the call and caught the victory spirit.

Pfund was one of three rookies to make his first start in the big show and none lost. He draped a seven-hitter on Frankie Frisch's Bums for a 4-1 edge with the help of Dixie Walker's triple, double and single.

Meil Ott shot a Freshman at the Chicago Cubs in Bill Emmerich, another St. Louis chain gang refugee from Rochester, and got a 6-5 edge in 10 innings, although Emmerich wasn't around to get the credit.

Tosses One Bad

Bill Voiselle relieved in the ninth, dished up a home run ball to Catcher Dewey Williams but was rescued from his first loss by Nap Reyes' second round-tripper of the day and credited with his sixth decision when Phil Weintraub singled home pinch runner Leon Treadway in the overtime frame.

The third first starter was Melvin Bosser, a 25-year-old war veteran whose only previous experience came in Class D. Taking the hill for Cincinnati against the Phillies, the discharged serviceman earned win No. 1 by a 5-4 score, but had to give way to Walter Beck because of wildness in the eighth.

Boston and St. Louis were not scheduled, moving up their game to make a doubleheader tomorrow, and the entire American slate of four games, including a night tilt in St. Louis, was washed into future twin bills.

FRIDAY NIGHT

Softball Opening Tentatively Set For Centennial Monday.

Opening Date To Depend On Progress Of Repairing And Resurfacing At Park

Arrangements for the 1945 Class A softball season were completed at the Memorial building last night.

Seven teams—the Salem Grays, Demings, Salem News, Mullins, Sinclair, Recreation and Leetonia—have declared intentions of entering and will begin play next week, it was decided at the meeting of managers and players.

One round will constitute six games, each team playing every other one in the loop once.

It was decided that each team shall narrow its list of players to 15 by the close of the first round and the limit thereafter will be 15. A team can sign replacements up to the 15-man limit at any time during the season, except after the opening of the final round.

Discharged veterans returning to Salem can sign and play with any team regardless of the quota, the managers agreed. Men home on leaves and furloughs can play with any team upon agreement of the opposing manager.

Contract books were issued to managers and all players must sign before being eligible to play. Contracts are binding with the player until a release is granted in writing by the manager of the team a man originally signed with.

Leetonia is to be scheduled for all second games, Joe M. Kelley, league manager, said. This arrangement was requested by the new outfit so that they can make the trip here more conveniently.

Rules on the new grounds at the park were discussed and agreed upon.

Kelley announced that the selection of an umpire for both the A and B loops is undecided since Pat Egan and Ray Reasbeck have left their availability a question. Both, however, may be at work when the first games get under way.

The date for the first games was tentatively set for next Monday, providing the field at the park is in shape to begin.

The possibility of opening then depends entirely on the weather conditions this week, Kelley said, as work can be finished if the weather allows.

Each team will be scheduled for two games a week, but three games will be required of at least one team each week in order to accommodate the seven team loop.

Kelley will announce the opening date late this week and will then disclose the final date for filling player rosters with league officials.

All players who intend to play ball are instructed to get in touch with their managers and sign.

OCCUPATION CODE VIOLATORS FACE HARSH PENALTIES

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 15.—The full meaning of the "stern" military government of the United States is imposing on Germany in the American occupation zone is found in penalties provided for infractions.

In more than a dozen instances, the death sentence may be imposed. Long imprisonment and heavy fines are provided in others.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower drew up the ordinances and penalties as his armies moved into Germany. It is assumed these are the codes under which American occupation is operating.

Three types of military government are set up. A general military court may impose any sentence, including death. An intermediate military court may impose imprisonment up to 10 years or fines up to $10,000. A summary court can sentence up to one year or fine up to $1,000.

The offenses for which death "or such other penalty" may be imposed include:

Espionage; communication of information which may be dangerous to the security or property of the Allied forces; acting "in defiance or contravention of terms imposed upon Germany"; acts or conduct in support or aid of the Nazi party and its various agencies; killing or assaulting any member of the Allied forces; unlawful possession of firearms and ammunition; aiding in the escape of any person detained by Allied authority or concealing any such persons; sabotage; looting; incitement to riot or participation in riot.

Heavy sentences, other than death, await those who disobey curfews, offer bribes to a member of an Allied force, spread rumors calculated to alarm or excite the people or undermine the morale of the Allied forces or who lie to or refuse to give information required by the military government.

Collective fines upon a community are made possible for "any offense for which such residents or a substantial number thereof are found to be collectively responsible."

A death sentence can not be executed until confirmed by Gen. Eisenhower.

walk and then were executed by gunfire. Women and common political prisoners knelt on an earthen bank to receive their death bullets. "Since we had seen no coffins at other camps visited, we inquired why coffins were used at Dachau, and were informed that these coffins were reserved for prisoners of distinction."

Made Hurried Visit
The committee visited Dachau within 48 hours after its liberation by American forces.

"When we arrived there were many prisoners lying dead between the inner and outer barbed-wire fences," the legislators said, "apparently shot by the guards. Lying in rows, were about 300 bodies of those who had died and had been collected that morning from the various barracks."

Concluding its recitation of the dramatic evidence, the report asserted:

"The committee feels that out of it all justice will emerge, and that through the sickening spectacle which we have witnessed of the degradation to which human beings have been subjected, will come ultimately a firmer realization that men of all nations and all tongues must resist encroachments of every theory and every ideology that debases mankind, and that a more just and enduring peace will arise upon the ruins and from the sacrifices which the human race has endured through one of the most 'crucial periods of its history.'"

These making the trip included Rep. Vorys (R., Ohio).

The committee reported this general conclusion after visiting the three camps:

"At each of these camps we found four general classifications of prisoners: (1) Political prisoners, (2) habitual criminals, (3) conscientious or religious objectors, (4) persons who were imprisoned for failure to work."

Same Death Pattern
"Although differing in size, they all carried into effect the same pattern of death by hard labor, starvation, hanging, strangulation, disease, brutality, gas chambers, gallows, and filthy and unsanitary conditions, which meant inevitable death eventually to every imprisoned person."

"We found, in each case, that the supervision of the camps was carried out by the criminal tactics of SS troops, who, in addition to their own brutality, assigned some of their punitive duties to the prisoners, especially the habitual criminals who had charge of the barracks in which all types of prisoners were subject to their vicious and inhuman methods."

We found that this entire program constituted a systematic form of torture and death administered to intellectuals, political leaders, and all others who would not embrace and support the Nazi philosophy and program. We found the extent, devices, methods and conditions of torture almost beyond the power of words to describe.

"We found, from all the evidence available, that in these camps the Jews and Russians and Poles were treated with a greater degree of severity than other nationalities. We are of the opinion that a colossal scheme of extermination was planned and put into effect against all those in occupied countries who refused to accept the principles of Nazism, or who opposed the sadistic of the Nazi yoke on their countries."

Typical Treatment
"The treatment accorded to these prisoners in the concentration camps was generally as follows: They were herded together in some wooden barracks not large enough for one-tenth of their number. They were forced to sleep on wooden frames covered with wooden boards in tiers of two, three, and even four, sometimes with no covering, sometimes with a bundle of dirty rags serving both as pallet and coverlet."

"Their food consisted generally of about one-half a pound of black bread per day and a bowl of watery soup for noon and night, and not always that. Owing to the great numbers crowded into a small space and to the lack of adequate sustenance, lice and vermin multiplied, disease became rampant, and those who did not soon die of disease or torture began the long, slow process of starvation."

Tribute to Their Fallen Friends

Russian women, and a child, liberated from slave labor near Hilden, Germany, by troops of the 13th U. S. Armored Division, First Army, place flowers at the feet of four dead American soldiers. A Russian eyewitness declared three of the men were murdered by a Nazi officer after surrender.

WOMAN JUDGE IN CLEVELAND MARKS 21ST ANNIVERSARY

BY MARJORIE MOORE

CLEVELAND — Judge Mary E. Grossman, a tiny, sweet-faced but militant feminist, is a terror to Cleveland murderers, gamblers, thieves, alcoholics, social outcasts, wife-beaters, and yes, even attorneys.

Celebrating her 21st year on the Municipal court bench, Judge Grossman recalled recently that she was so small when she took up her judiciary duties that "I had to sit on a huge record book to get my chin over the top of the desk."

However, her petiteness and sex have not kept her from becoming Cleveland's most formidable judge.

Doesn't Ask, Give Favors

Upon taking office, Miss Grossman—one of the two first women admitted to the American Bar Assn. in 1912—said: "I shall act as a judge and not a woman, asking no favors and granting none—as a woman." She has kept her word.

For "numbers" men, racketeers, bookmakers and policy boys she has no mercy. "Gambling is against the law," she maintains. "The law is the law and circumstances do not alter cases." Gamblers and their lawyers try every dodge possible to avoid her rigid court, where maximum sentences are dealt out freely.

Miss Grossman believes the ban on racing is the best move ever made. "Now maybe some of those parasites will go to work," she said.

Flogging for Wife-Beaters

Another creature firmly dealt with by Judge Grossman is the wife-beater. Last summer, the 65-year-old woman jurist—a spinster herself—went so far as to advocate public flogging for men who used their wives as punching bags.

Always a crusader, Miss Grossman, who is reportedly equal to 100 policemen, carries on one-man campaigns for better handling of moral and mental delinquents whom she frequently finds on the other side of her desk.

The first woman judge of a morals court in the nation—to which she was appointed in 1926—Miss Grossman has struggled to eliminate misdemeanors and to secure proper treatment for mentally and physically diseased criminals. She has impressed on the community the fact that the handling of vice cases is a medical, sociological and psychological problem as well as a legal one.

No Other Ambition

The Cleveland jurist has no further ambitions. She believes she has a "full-sized job" on her hands right now. "I could never be happy in another job," she said. "I guess I'm just curious by nature. I always want to hear both sides of the question."

Admitting she studied law "just because everyone else in the law office where I was employed as a secretary was doing so and I didn't want to be left behind," Miss Grossman since has become more enthusiastic about her career. She has distinguished herself as a capable, understanding and strict law-enforcer by her record of unimpeachable honesty and devotion to justice.

Despite her reputation, Mary Grossman—minus her horn-rimmed glasses and Judge's bench—is a kind, gentle, soft-spoken woman whose one extravagance is the Saturday matinee.

AID SMALL FIRMS IN NEW RULINGS

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Two government agencies today made it easier for small firms to acquire materials for civilian production.

Firms whose employment does not exceed 100 workers now may obtain materials without first getting assurance from the War Manpower commission that manpower is available.

When these small firms hire workers, however, all WMC hiring regulations in effect in the area must be observed to insure necessary war production.

The principal effect will be to enable small firms to have materials ready to resume or expand civilian production just as soon as sufficient manpower can be obtained without interference to essential war production.

Mail Service Is Taxed By Shifting of Troops

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The reshuffle of troops from Europe to the Pacific is going to give the Army Postal Service its biggest job of the war, a War department spokesman said today.

He said some mail may take weeks to reach the soldiers. There will be some periods, while the soldiers are enroute either to the Pacific or this country when there will be no regular mail service for them. The burden of forwarding and reforwarding mail is expected to tax postal facilities to the utmost.

Because of the acute transportation problems that still remain despite the end of the war in Europe, there will be no lifting of restrictions on the mailing of packages to soldiers overseas.

Approximately 2,000,000 service men have subscribed to hometown weekly newspapers in the United States.

OCCUPATION CODE VIOLATORS FACE HARSH PENALTIES

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 15.—The full meaning of the "stern" military government the United States is imposing on Germany in the American occupation zone is found in penalties provided for infractions. In more than a dozen instances, the death sentence may be imposed. Long imprisonment and heavy fines are provided in others.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower drew up the ordinances and penalties as his armies moved into Germany. It is assumed these are the codes under which American occupation is operating.

Three types of military government are set up. A general military court may impose any sentence, including death. An intermediate military court may impose imprisonment up to 10 years or fines up to $10,000. A summary court can sentence up to one year or fine up to $1,000.

The offenses for which death "or such other penalty" may be imposed include:

Espionage; communication of information which may be dangerous to the security or property of the Allied forces; acting "in defiance or contravention of terms imposed upon Germany"; acts or conduct in support or aid of the Nazi party and its various agencies; killing or assaulting any member of the Allied forces; unlawful possession of firearms and ammunition; aiding in the escape of any person detained by Allied authority or concealing any such persons; sabotage; looting; incitement to or participation in riot.

Heavy sentences, other than death, await those who disobey curfews, offer bribes to a member of an Allied force, spread rumors "calculated to alarm or excite the people or undermine the morale of the Allied forces" or who lie to or refuse to give information required by the military government.

Collective fines upon a community are made possible for "any offense for which such residents or a substantial number thereof are found to be collectively responsible." A death sentence can not be executed until confirmed by Gen. Eisenhower.

walk and then were executed by gunfire. Women and common political prisoners knelt on an earthen bank to receive their death bullets.

"Since we had seen no coffins at other camps visited, we inquired why coffins were used at Dachau, and were informed that these coffins were reserved for prisoners of distinction."

Made hurried visit. The committee visited Dachau within 48 hours after its liberation by American forces.

"When we arrived there were many prisoners lying dead between the inner and outer barbed-wire fences," the legislators said, "apparently shot by the guards. Lying in rows, were about 300 bodies of those who had died and had been collected that morning from the various barracks."

Concluding its recitation of the

dramatic evidence, the report asserted:

"The committee feels that out of it all justice will emerge, and that through the sickening spectacle which we have witnessed of the degradation to which human beings have been subjected, will come ultimately a firmer realization that men of all nations and all tongues must resist encroachments of every theory and every ideology that debases mankind, and that a more just and enduring peace may arise upon the ruins and from the sacrifices which the human race has endured through one of the most 'racial periods of its history.'"

These making the trip included Rep. Vorys (R., Ohio).

The committee reported this general conclusion after visiting the three camps:

"At each of these camps we found four general classifications of prisoners: (1) Political prisoners, (2) habitual criminals, (3) conscientious or religious objectors, (4) persons who were imprisoned for failure to work."

Same Death Pattern

"Although differing in size, they all carried into effect the same pattern of death by hard labor, starvation, hanging, strangulation, disease, brutality, gas chambers, gallowes, and filthy and unsanitary conditions, which meant inevitable death eventually to every imprisoned person."

"We found, in each case, that the supervision of the camps was carried out by the criminal tactics of SS troops, who, in addition to their own brutality, assigned some of their punitive duties to the prisoners, especially the habitual criminals who had charge of the barracks in which all types of prisoners were subject to their vicious and inhuman methods."

"We found that this entire program constituted a systematic form of torture and death administered to intellectuals, political leaders, and all others who would not embrace and support the Nazi philosophy and program. We found the extent, devices, methods and conditions of torture almost beyond the power of words to describe."

"We found, from all the evidence available, that in these camps the Jews and Russians and Poles were treated with a greater degree of severity than other nationalities. We are of the opinion that a colossal scheme of extermination was planned and put into effect against all those in occupied countries who refused to accept the principles of Nazism, or who opposed the sadistic of the Nazi yoke on their countries."

Typical Treatment

"The treatment accorded to these prisoners in the concentration camps was generally as follows: They were herded together in some wooden barracks not large enough for one-tenth of their number. They were forced to sleep on wooden benches covered with wooden boards in tiers of two, three, and even four, sometimes with no covering, sometimes with a bundle of dirty rags serving both as pallet and coverlet."

"Their food consisted generally of about one-half a pound of black bread per day and a bowl of watery soup for noon and night, and not always that. Owing to the great numbers crowded into a small space and to the lack of adequate sustenance, lice and vermin multiplied, disease became rampant, and those who did not soon die of disease or torture began the long, slow process of starvation."

Tribute to Their Fallen Friends

Russian women, and a child, liberated from slave labor near Hilden, Germany, by troops of the 13th U. S. Armored Division, First Army, place flowers at the feet of four dead American soldiers. A Russian eyewitness declared three of the men were murdered by a Nazi officer after surrender.

WOMAN JUDGE IN CLEVELAND MARKS 21ST ANNIVERSARY

BY MARJORIE MOORE

CLEVELAND — Judge Mary E. Grossman, a tiny, sweet-faced but militant feminist, is a terror to Cleveland — murderers, gamblers, thieves, alcoholics, social outcasts, wife-beaters, and yes, even attorneys.

Celebrating her 21st year on the Municipal court bench, Judge Grossman recalled recently that she was so small when she took up her judicial duties that "I had to sit on a huge record book to get my chin over the top of the desk."

However, her pettiness and sex have not kept her from becoming Cleveland's most formidable judge. Doesn't Ask, Give Favors
Upon taking office, Miss Grossman—one of the two first women admitted to the American Bar Assn., in 1912—said: "I shall act as a judge and not a woman, asking no favors and granting none—as a woman." She has kept her word.

For "numbers" men, racketeers, bookmakers and policy boys she has no mercy. "Gambling is against the law," she maintains, "The law is the law and circumstances do not alter cases." Gamblers and their lawyers try every dodge possible to avoid her rigid court, where maximum sentences are dealt out freely.

Miss Grossman believes the ban on racing is the best move ever made. "Now maybe some of those parasites will go to work," she said.

Flogging for Wife-Beaters
Another creature firmly dealt with by Judge Grossman is the wife-beater. Last summer, the 65-year-old woman jurist—a spinster herself—went so far as to advocate public flogging for men who used their wives as punching bags.

Always a crusader, Miss Grossman, who is reportedly equal to 100 policemen, carries on one-man campaigns for better handling of moral and mental delinquents whom she frequently finds on the other side of her desk.

The first woman judge of a morals court in the nation—to which she was appointed in 1926—Miss Grossman has struggled to eliminate misdemeanors and to secure proper treatment for mentally and physically diseased criminals. She has impressed on the community the fact that the handling of vice cases is a medical, sociological and psychiatric problem as well as a legal one.

No Other Ambition
The Cleveland jurist has no further ambitions. She believes she has a "full-sized job" on her hands right now. "I could never be happy in another job," she said. "I guess I'm just curious by nature. I always want to hear both sides of the question."

Admitting she studied law "just because everyone else in the law office where I was employed as a secretary was doing so and I didn't want to be left behind," Miss Grossman since has become more enthusiastic about her career. She has distinguished herself as a capable, understanding and strict law-enforcer by her record of unimpeachable honesty and devotion to justice.

Despite her reputation, Mary Grossman—minus her horn-rimmed glasses and judge's bench—is a kind, gentle, soft-spoken woman whose one extravagance is the Saturday matinee.

AID SMALL FIRMS IN NEW RULINGS

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Two government agencies today made it easier for small firms to acquire materials for civilian production.

Firms whose employment does not exceed 100 workers now may obtain materials without first getting assurance from the War Manpower commission that manpower is available.

When these small firms hire workers, however, all WMC hiring regulations in effect in the area must be observed to insure necessary war production.

The principal effect will be to enable small firms to have materials ready to resume or expand civilian production just as soon as sufficient manpower can be obtained without interference to essential war production.

Mail Service Is Taxed By Shifting of Troops

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The reshuffle of troops from Europe to the Pacific is going to give the Army Postal Service its biggest job of the war, a War department spokesman said today.

He said some mail may take weeks to reach the soldiers. There will be some periods, while the soldiers are enroute either to the Pacific or this country when there will be no regular mail service for them. The burden of forwarding and reforwarding mail is expected to tax postal facilities to the utmost.

Because of the acute transportation problems that still remain despite the end of the war in Europe, there will be no lifting of restrictions on the mailing of packages to soldiers overseas.

Approximately 2,000,000 service men have subscribed to hometown weekly newspapers in the United States.
